

An aerial photograph of the Ambassador Bridge, a large suspension bridge spanning the Detroit River. The bridge's two massive steel towers are prominent, with the name 'AMBASSADOR BRIDGE' visible on the side of the nearer tower. The bridge deck is filled with cars. To the left, a large cargo ship is moving across the water, leaving a white wake. The far side of the river is lined with green trees and some buildings, including a church with a tall steeple. The sky is clear and blue.
